Virginia Opera, known as the Official Opera Company of the Commonwealth of Virginia, has had a nearly 50-year history of presenting masterful programs that entertain and educate audiences of all ages. Each season the company produces four mainstage operas and many community engagement programs and projects at the Harrison Opera House, Carpenter Theatre in the Dominion Energy Center, and at the George Mason University Center for the Arts. Established in 1974 in Norfolk, VA, Virginia Opera expanded its production to Richmond, VA, in 1977 with the support of Governor Mills Godwin and Mrs. Fleetwood (Anna) Garner and The Richmond Friends of Opera. In 1992, the Company presented its first mainstage performance at the Center for the Arts at George Mason University in Fairfax.
